

I am greatly concerned about the possible disruption of FM translator service due to the proposed expansion of Low Power FM (LPFM) service. I am a regular listener and supporter of K-LOVE, which I receive through FM translators throughout my region. K-LOVE provides a rare and extremely valuable service as a family-friendly broadcast that I and my entire family enjoy daily. I can safely let my children listen to K-LOVE, at home and travelling throughout the country, knowing they will hear wholesome, encouraging music and words. K-LOVE is a last refuge for family-friendly radio in an increasingly hostile world. It would be a grave disservice to displace this valuable FM translator service, which would effectively eliminate the only family oriented broadcaster in our region.
